Guide . . .

September 6, 1944

A day that marked the foundation of Our Lady of the Angels Academy . . .

A day that marked the beginning of dedicated Felician service . . .

On this memorable date, Sister Mary Viterbia, C.S.S.F.

was appointed first principal of the Academy and shortly afterwards Dean of Studies for the Enfield Province.

Now fifteen years have passed.

Sister Principal has become renowned as the true educator of YOUTH —

The Angelites — in Christian ideals and principles, the skilled instructor of rightly ordered knowledge in the realms of SPACE, the inspiring guide of practical SANCTITY through her Christ-like example.

To all of the Academy's alumnae and present members,

Sister Mary Viterbia is the living symbol of their fondest hopes for O.L.A., and the embodiment of the stronger, more meaningful links binding the

the Incarnate Word with the seekers of His Wisdom.

Thus, on the occasion of the Fifteenth Anniversary of her term of office,

The Senior Class of 1959 gratefully dedicates this —

"The Angelican" to our beloved Principal,

SISTER MARY VITERBIA.

Study—

The angel of the world announces to the Angelite . . .

that she must be a YOUTHFUL Mary . . .

that she must learn and absorb the Good Tidings in her classes . . .

that she must know the flaming TRUTH of the Spirit through her STUDIES . . .

if she would become the intellectually balanced woman, conscious of her noble, motherly characteristics . . .

if she would conceive the Incarnate Wisdom, Christ, in her heart . . .

Freshmen Set

"Now don't tell me you found a mistake." Very intent upon simultaneous equations are: at the board, Bargar Z., Claire T., Ann P. and Carol M.; Seated, Kathleen M., Helena S., Mary Ann M., Geraldine F., Judy B., Jane W. and Donna H.

"The answer must be in some book!" Seated l. to r., Magdalen S., Luba S., Irene G. and Elaine P.; Standing, l. to r., Carol M., Sylvia C., Margaret C., Barbara S., Joyce J. and Kathryn G.

The freedom of youth explains this flight of fancy as the freshmen of the General Business Class "take off" on an imaginary trip via O.L.A. Lines.

Standards High

Conjugations and declensions can be trying for a group of freshmen. At board, Irene G. and Virginia T. First row, Jacqueline K., Theresa P., Dolores K. and Marie A. Second row, Lorraine T., Elizabeth S., Pamela R. and Marion Q. Third row, Collette P., Carolyn B., Frances K., Theresa R., Paula T. and Natalie A.

The Business Sophomores learn to "see" the letter, "think" the letter and "strike" the letter as they acquire skill in touch typing. Back row, l. to r., Judy V. and Patricia K.; Middle row, Joyce S., Mary Agnes C. and Laurie G.; First row, Ruth S. and Carmela A.

Eratne Caesar Magnus? These sophs think so. Their study gives them a vivid picture of the Roman Empire and its language. First row, Patricia S., Carole R., Rosaleen M. and Donna C.; Second row, Mary Ellen L., Kathleen D., Rosalie D. and Catherine B.; Third row, Victoria W., Gail T., Catherine D. and Paula B.; at desk, S. M. Amabilis and Jeanne K.

Victoria W. is determined to bury Caesar, not to praise him. A critical audience lends her their ears. First row, Judith C., Ellen R., Madeline J. and Mary Ann M.; Second row, Patricia Z., Laurie G., Patricia L. and Paula B.; Standing, Carole S., Celia L., Victoria W., Patricia K., Catherine B. and Patricia I.

Brain teasers — The recognition of logical associations between pairs of related words. L. to r., Judith A., Patricia C., Rosemarie S., Ann Marie Mc., Patricia F., Geraldine S., Patricia P., Winifred K. and Sheila B.

The Mass — Our Life in Christ and with Christ. Standing, l. to r., Claire P., Carole S., and Jacqueline M.; Seated, first row, Lucy L., Mary Ann M., and Ruth S.; Second row, Patricia P., Martha W.; Third row, Karen M., Roseann K., and Patricia F.

A series of panel discussions on Polish Culture was a major issue in the Polish classes this year. L. to r., Theresa J., Ellen R., Cecilia L., Patricia I., Judith C., Patricia Z., and Donna C.

Juniors — Ring Day Festivities

After the Communion Breakfast. Class Officers: Mary Jo F., Jane Z., Diane I., and Joyce A., model their newly obtained RINGS for the Reverend Michael Grylak, C.M., Chaplain.

In our ring-day finery as we pose pretty — FORTY-SIX STRONG! "A day never to be forgotten."

Biology in the laboratory.

The microscope is an invaluable aid in the study of Biology. Judy G., Lorraine M., Phyllis Q., Patricia S., Diane I., Barbara C., Mary Jo F., Gail A., Mary C., and Theresa C., acquire the proper technique of handling it.

Biology in the orchard.

They are apple blossoms. Lorraine M., Louise L., Diane I., Jane Z., and Jane C., observe the pistils and stamens in their natural settings.

Bookkeeping

As each bookkeeper is in charge of a special journal and a corresponding ledger, each one realizes that accuracy is indispensable for the completion of a set of books. They are, from left to right, Andrea S., Marie R., Carol M., Leila F., Connie A., Patricia C., Jean K., Billie Ann P., Phyllis B., Rita C., and Victoria M.

Jane C. takes a definite stand on the problem of evil as portrayed in Melville's sea stories. Jane Z. and Mary Jo F. do not quite agree. Janice G., Lois F., Joan S., Frances B., Frances L., Phyllis D., Rita C., Eleanor L., Honore S., Victoria M., Paula B., and Arlene B. find the debate interesting.

"Now, wait a minute. Which graph represents which equation? Let's get this straight." Paula B. proceeds with the identification, and Lorraine M. completes the graph with the professional advice of Carole H., while attentive Intermediate Algebra students Honore S., Mary Jane C., Rita P., Barbara G., Mary C. and Patricia T. listen.

Jane C., Bernadette I., Barbara L., Frances B., Billie Ann P., Patricia T., and Jane Z. find cross-sections and charts extremely helpful in their study of trees.

Bright Business Juniors are preparing for a bright business future as they learn to transcribe their shorthand notes quickly and accurately. L. to r., first row, Marie R., Diane I., and Connie A.; second row, Phyllis D., Andrea S., Phyllis B., and Jean K.; third row, Barbara C., Leila F., Frances L., and Carol M.

Play—

Now the Angelite, like Mary, must arise and go with haste into the hill country...

carrying the Light of Christ into moon, stars, planets, galaxies of SPACE... convincing the farmer, the business man, the engineer, the scientist — by her ACTION — her good example — that Christ is within her... for even her extra-curricular activities — her very PLAY — must be God-motivated... that she might become the physically balanced woman, prepared for her earthly task of magnifying the Lord...

Highlights of the Year

1. Open House
2. Parade of Youth Delegates: Jane C. and Margaret W.
3. Veronica L. among the State of Connecticut Essay Contest Winners. Honorable Governor, Abraham Ribicoff presented awards.
4. Sheila L. congratulated on meriting the 4H Award.

Prayer—

As the Angelite loves, so does she pray . . .

so does she realize her eternal destiny in common with Mary . . .

that is, to give birth to the Incarnate Son of God through her own personal SANCTITY, her moral and spiritual principles put to practice . . .

to mother Christ in the souls of all mankind through her LOVE and PRAYER . . .

as the morally and spiritually balanced woman on the road to VALIANT WOMANHOOD . . .

Scaling the Heights of Creation

In the beginning . . .

the year 1955

God created . . .

from the minds of youth facing adulthood

heaven and earth . . .

the ascent to the mountain of Valiant Womanhood, perfect maturity.

The Spirit of God . . .

stirred, moved, and breathed over the waters of our souls

AS THE CLIMB BEGAN . . .

Directing our steps on that arduous road . . .

through the test of proving our newfound loyalty at Initiation through the thrill of sharing our diverse hobbies with others

through the joy of fulfilling our "little-sister obligations

by "St. Joan of Arc"

Alerting our minds on that crucial journey

to the puzzles of "x-y"

to the richness of world civilizations

to the beauty of the liturgy

Filling our hearts on that awesome trip with the first blessings of Red Mass

with the grateful spirit of the Felician Centennial

with the grace-bearing hours of silent Retreat

Charging each and all with the grandeur of our God

Who is . . .

our God Who causes all else to be . . .

And so our Divine Guide led us up the Mountain of God through our freshman days . . .

Came upon us 1956 . . .

The earth was waste and void . . .

our past year was only an introduction to the Creation of the ideal Angelite; our coming year was a challenge to the goal of the steep heights.

And darkness covered the abyss . . .

we were now "wise fools" who knew not their own spiritual void.

In darkness our hearts traversed, fearing the deep abyss, the almost — insurmountable obstacles, the perilous cliffs

Yet . . . AS DIFFICULTY CHALLENGED . . .

The Spirit strengthened us . . .

to fight the battles of Caesar

to unravel the complexities of theorems to master the techniques of typing . . .

implanted the seed of loyalty . . .

to our fellow Angelites . . . "more blessed to give" . . . presentation of annual Christmas party . . .

to our beloved Academy . . . "faithful may we ever be" . . . planting of Flowering Crab Apple, our Class Tree . . .

to our glorious country . . . "sweet land of liberty" . . . tour of State Capitol, Hartford . . .

to our Heavenly Mother . . . "lovely Lady dressed in blue" . . . visits to our cherished Queen of the Campus . . .

to our Lord and God . . . "Lauda, Jerusalem, Dominum" . . . dedication of the new Convent and Motherhouse chapel . . .

and — most important of all — enkindled a flame in the night, confronted us with the mystery of our God-destined human nature . . .

We came — from God

We belong — to God

We live — in God.

We no longer think like children; we step into the vestibule of upperclassmen

It was the memorable year of 1957

Because . . .

God removed the fear of Master that we may call Him Father . . .

He took on humanity that we may grasp Divinity . . .

He breathed His fire in our souls that we may radiate His love . . .

So that dusky mists of emptiness were burned away by the candle-glow of self-knowledge; blackness was dispelled by brightness

And the way lay clear before us: for the Spirit of God was a lamp unto our feet, a mirror unto our soul-image . . .

Let there be light . . .

rays pointing to the approaching heights beams indicating the near ideal

And there was LIGHT . . .

the fire of the Spirit espoused a gentle radiance
— the beacon-light of the Heart of Mary leading to the Mountain Peak . . . the Heart of her Son
. . . and Valiant Womanhood — the work of these Two Hearts!

— AS THE VISION APPEARED —

A Lourdes Year flamed . . . to illumine the very depths of our selves . . .

in the marvels of the microscope
in the fancies of French in the appreciation of American authors in the balance of bookkeeping
in the primacy of Peter

We now lit our candles in a "new Academy on the hill" . . . but we caught the "old" life of O.L.A.
in our "adoption" pageantry . . .

Unity shone . . .

in the gleam of class standards
in the blaze of class rings in the all-brilliant light of class patrons — the Sacred Hearts of Jesus and Mary — Who cast the soul-fire of Valiant Womanhood into our beings
. . . the image of THE WOMAN . . .

Offering herself to the Christ dwelling in each member of His Mystical Body . . .

Bearing that Christ within her heart to the waiting hearts of humanity . . .

Knowing herself as one sent by God to continue His Incarnation and Redemption
among men . . .

For with the reception of the Daisy Chain, we reached the crest . . .

of the Mountain of God
of Angelite Creation of Valiant Womanhood

And passed . . . into Seniorship 1958

And God . . .

the Creator ever smiling upon us
the Redeemer ever beckoning to us
the Spirit ever leading us saw that all He had made . . .

this fulfillment of our four years on the steep road up the Mount in these many, culminating, senior memories . . . departure of the delegates to Rome for general elections in the Congregation

. . . presentation of "Smallest of All" — the noble humility of Bernadette — upon their welcomed return . . . the tragically vaulting ambition of Macbeth — symbol of human weakness . . . a unique reflection of God's creative power and infinite wisdom — the mighty atom revolving through space . . . secretarial arts of efficient office work . . . Our Lady, Guiding Star of all our chosen vocations . . . the Divine Love-Tale dramatized in
"Master of Life and Death" — annual school play
. . . Mother-Daughter Tea — expression of filial devotion . . . Washington Trip — experience . . .
comprehensives and final examinations . . . knowledge . . . Graduation and Class Night — a final command to steep the earth in the Redemptive Blood of Christ through that experience and knowledge . . . the last Mass of Thanksgiving bidding us depart under the standards of our Eucharistic King and our Immaculate Queen . . .
this and all else that enriches the life of the Angelite . . . God saw that it was very good . . .

for it blossomed into the Angelite flower, the young women . . .

vital with the throbbing life of the Host vigorous in the moral precepts of the Angelite spirit

eager for the mystical mothering of Christ

— AS THE SUMMIT GLOWED —

before our eyes . . . the Spirit indicated its true value . . .

And we looked up . . . and saw . . .

the focal point of all creation
the towering peak of the mountain
the blazing axis of this planet

— which was —

Christ our God eternally hanging on a Cross! . . .

Then did we attain true peace . . .

for the Heart of Christ's Mother led our restless hearts up the mountain road, the Via Crucis, until at last they rested in the Heart of Christ reigning from the summit of

*Blessings and Honour
and Glory and Power,
through endless ages
to Him Who sits on*

In the name of the Father, and of the

the throne . . .

(Apocalypse 5)

Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen.
